THE BACKSTORY

Helping Organizations Navigate Change

THEN: NEXTMOVE

Global migration was a new reality the missions world needed to come to grips with. We served on the leadership team of Nextmove helped ~30 major agencies integrate diaspora strategies into their core competencies through original research, tools, and consulting.

NOW: BITCOIN + MISSIONS

The emergence of digital currency and the changes in the global monetary order is a shift we all need to come to terms with. Same pattern: research, networking, tools, and hands-on training to help missions agencies adapt.

Same approach. Different paradigm shift.

THE JOURNEY

Five years of building.

2021

Met Eric Hersman at Missio Nexus. Out of 600+ leaders, no one was interested.

2023

Applied for Missio Nexus Innovation Grant. Proposed three design labs: El Salvador, Kenya, India. Got funded. The conversations at Missio Nexus were entirely different.

2023–25

Hosted 3 design labs. Trained 70+ leaders. Hosted a booth at the Global Lausanne Congress in South Korea. Built a global practitioner network.

2026

Bitcoin for Ministry Summit, Global Missions Funding Network, and the Launch of Frontier Finance Consulting.

THE INDIA FACTOR

45% of respondents named India as a top-three barrier country — FCRA regulations, government scrutiny, and massive missions scale create unique friction.

How Your Money Moves Today

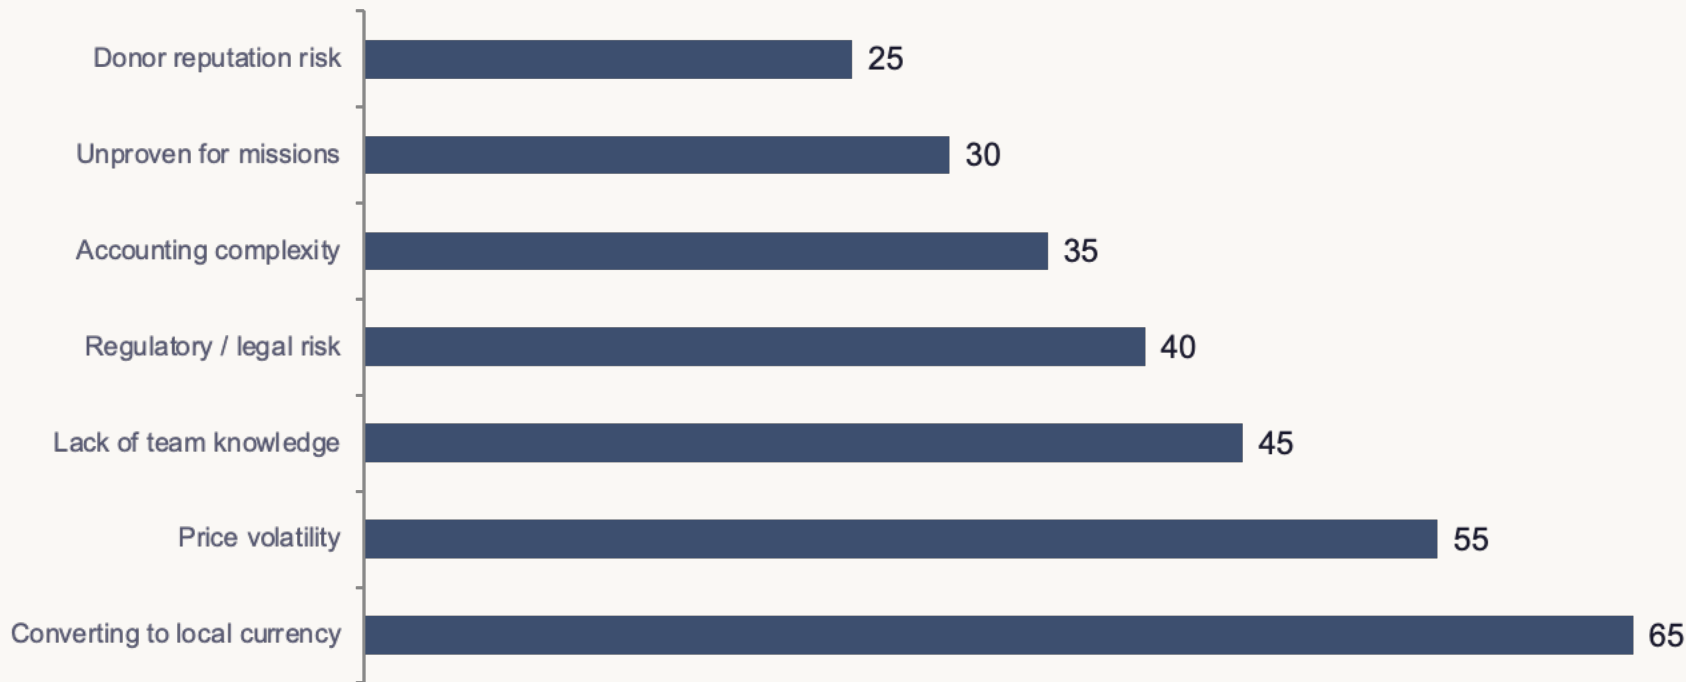

THE CASH PARADOX

65% of respondents hand-carry cash across borders — organizations managing tens of millions still physically carry currency. Formal banking is failing in these corridors.

EARLY ADOPTERS EXIST

30% already use Bitcoin for some transfers. A parallel financial system — intermediaries, hawala, cash — has been built from necessity when banking can't reach.

How do we help the most missions leaders?

The challenge of scaling.

Bitcoin and digital currencies as a technology are complex enough that a hands-on approach is needed for an organization to successfully integrate these new tools into their operations.

The solution:

A bespoke process that helps an organization assess their readiness to use these tools and to identify where their use would be most strategic.
